

White Oak Civil War Museum

Over 120,000 Civil War soldiers camped in Stafford County in the winter of 1862-1863 - that is more than today's population. White Oak Civil War Museum honors the lives lost during the Civil War. It displays one of the world's most extensive collection of Civil War artifacts, most of which were found in Stafford County and the Fredericksburg Area. The museum is located in an historic building which served as a one-room school until the 1960s.
