

Make certain that you first read “Transportation – Aquia Landing” and “Civil War – Union Occupation – Trail to Freedom” to get the full history of the area before you visit this historic site.

TOURISM – Aquia Landing

Check with Stafford’s Tourism department of Economic Development at 658-8681 to see when Aquia Landing is open for your class to visit.

Aquia Creek Battlefield

From May 29 - Jun 1, 1861, Union Navy vessels bombarded Confederate batteries in the area of Aquia Landing in Stafford County, Virginia - one of the first naval engagements of the Civil War.

In July 2010, a grant from the National Park Service's "American Battlefield Protection Program" was awarded to Stafford County to survey the Aquia Creek Battlefield. Work on this project will begin in early 2011.

Many thanks to the various partners involved in this project:

- Hope Springs Marina
- Institute of Maritime History
- Maryland Historical Trust
- TravelHost Magazine of Central Virginia
- Virginia Dept. of Conservation and Recreation

Special thanks to the government departments and divisions of

Stafford County:

- Stafford County Government
 - GIS in the IT Dept.
 - Parks, Recreation & Community Facilities
 - Planning & Zoning Dept.
 - Tourism in Economic Development